
Dreaming of wine
CEPA 21 BODEGAS

The wines that are conquering the world

José Moro revolutionizes the wine industry by dreaming from the land up in Bodegas Cepa 21. With the perfect combination of tradition and modernity with a unique and exquisite terroir, he bets on enhancing the best the land has to offer to achieve wines with soul. Differential wines that bear the quality seal of José Moro and his know-how.

A HISTORY OF PASSION

A CENTENARY LEGACY

Bodegas Cepa 21 is the result of the centenary legacy that José Moro, its president, received from his father and grandfather who, for more than a century, have worked the land and have achieved the key to success: to know perfectly the environment that surrounds us to enhance the best of its soils, its climate and the Tempranillo variety, the queen of Ribera del Duero.

D. O Ribera del Duero

The Designation of Origin “Ribera del Duero” is found in the northern plateau and in the convergence of the four provinces of the Autonomous Community of Castile-León. It is worth noting that this is the D.O. with the highest altitude in Spain, between 750 and 1,000 meters above sea level.

CEPA 21 BODEGAS

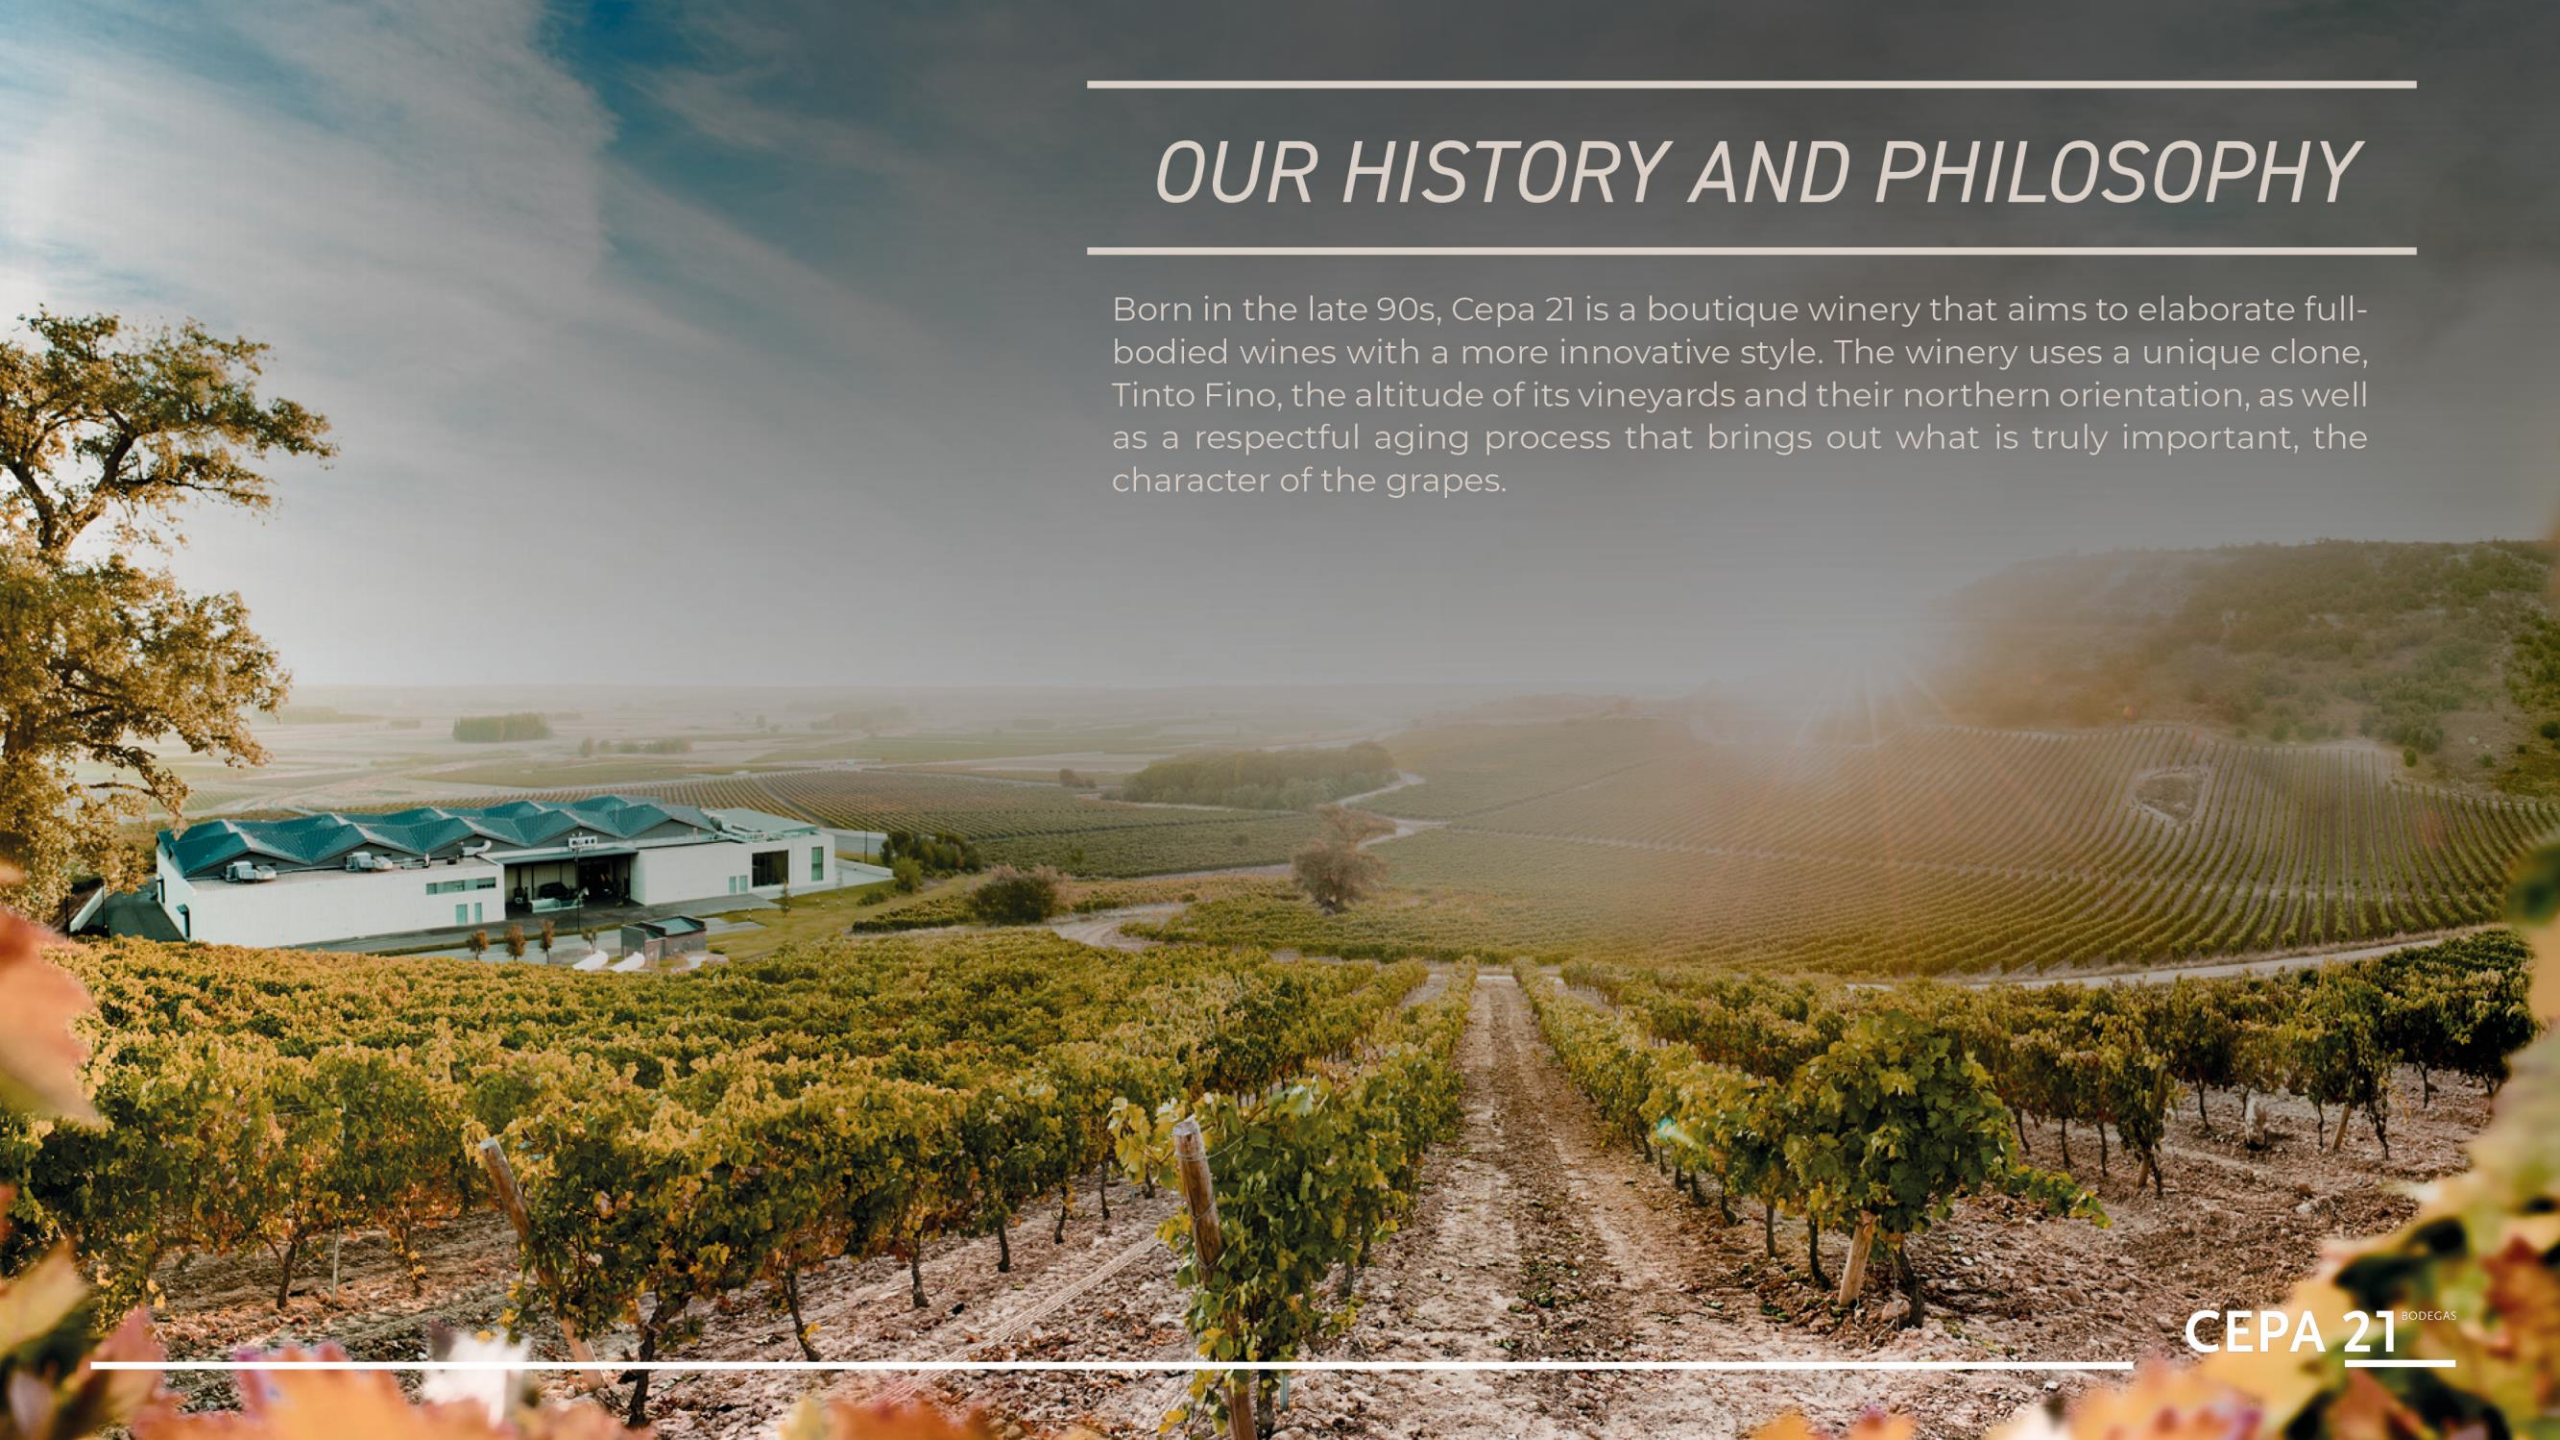

The Golden Mile, a priviledged location

Bodegas Cepa 21 is located on a small hill in Castrillo de Duero, in the province of Valladolid, in the heart of Ribera del Duero. It is situated in an area known as the Milla de Oro (Golden Mile).

Ribera del Duero provides us a very unique nature that enriches our viticulture to the maximum. An area of orographic contrasts that create a unique landscape.

OUR HISTORY AND PHILOSOPHY

Born in the late 90s, Cepa 21 is a boutique winery that aims to elaborate full-bodied wines with a more innovative style. The winery uses a unique clone, Tinto Fino, the altitude of its vineyards and their northern orientation, as well as a respectful aging process that brings out what is truly important, the character of the grapes.

Our terroir

Soil:

The soils of the vineyards of Cepa 21 are mainly sandy clay, rocky and chalky soils.

Climate:

Moderate to scarce rainfalls, with dry summers and long winters, with frosts that define our continental climate.

Variety:

Tempranillo is the grape best suited to our land and the one that gives our wines their soul.

Tempranillo, the queen of the varieties

This variety gives very small grapes and loose bunches, which is necessary for producing robust and elegant wines.

CEPA 21 BODEGAS

OUR SOILS

Clay

Are made up of fine yellowish grains and they retain water. They give structure, power and character to the wines.

CEPA 21 BODEGAS

OUR SOILS

Limestones

They are dry and arid soils that give the wines elegance, finesse and complexity.

CEPA 21 BODEGAS

OUR SOILS

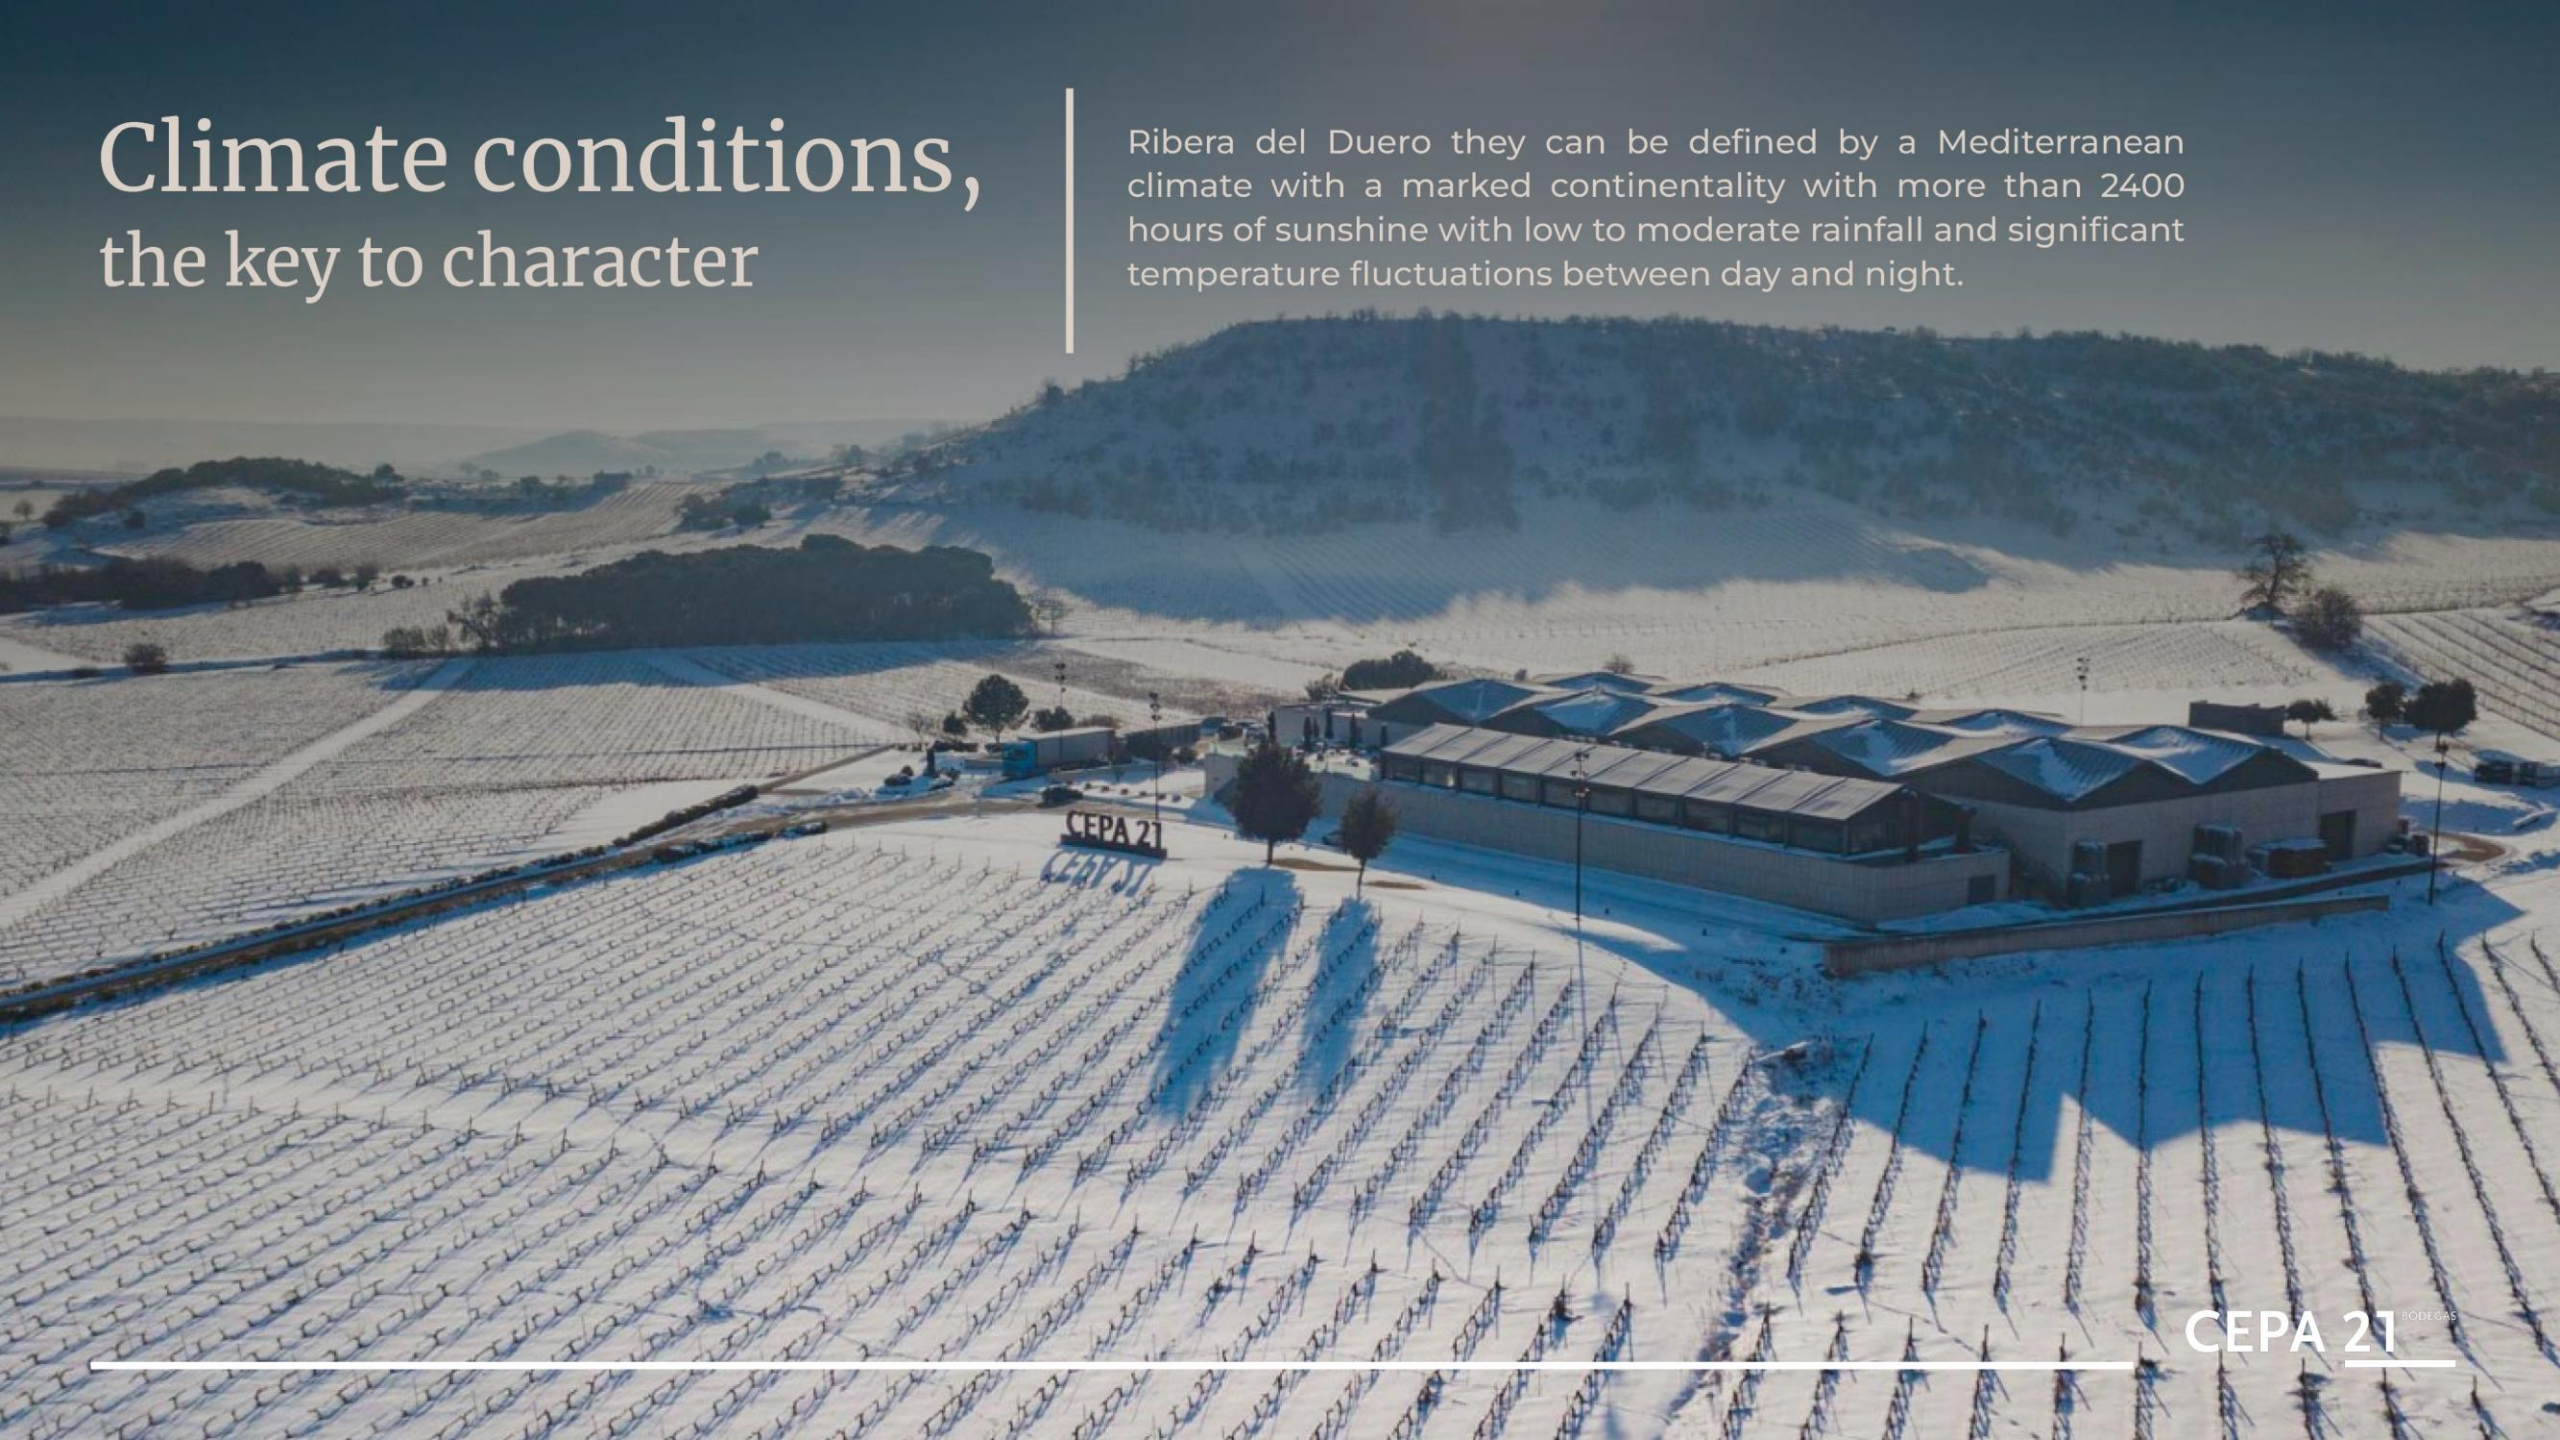

Stony

These soils do not retain water. They provide maturity, tenderness and sweetness.

CEPA 21 BODEGAS

Climate conditions,
the key to character

Ribera del Duero they can be defined by a Mediterranean climate with a marked continentality with more than 2400 hours of sunshine with low to moderate rainfall and significant temperature fluctuations between day and night.

CEPA 21 BODEGAS

The altitude of the vineyards

At Bodegas Cepa 21, we can also differentiate our soils by altitude:

- Meadowland: These are more fertile soils with color to elaborate aromatic young easy-to-drink wines.
- Slopes: the perfect ones for producing aromatic and structured wines.
- Plateau: The ideal area to produce ripe grapes with intense aromas and outstanding body.

Environmentally friendly

We respect the personality of the nuances that each year cycle provides.

Wines with soul

Wines born of the soul of our land, Ribera del Duero. Wines which speak of Bodegas Cepa 21's way of being, its essence and its character. Wines which enchant from the very first to the very last drop and which shine a light on the true star, the Tempranillo variety.

HITO
ROSADO

History

The word “HITO” means a stone post, sometimes carved, which is used to indicate the direction or distance of paths or to mark boundaries. This wine is the outcome of our desire to offer consumers the freshest and most aromatic version of our variety, created with the same grapes as our great reds but with no maturation whatsoever.

Characteristics

A clean and bright wine, pale pink in tone. Its nose is fresh and expressive, with fragrances of red fruit and subtle notes of white flowers that provide complexity. Its palate is a faithful reflection of its nose: expressive, with a pronounced but balanced acidity and a hint of sweetness, resulting in a delightful wine with an elegant and fresh personality.

HITO

History

The word “HITO” means a stone post, sometimes carved, which is used to indicate the direction or distance of paths or to mark boundaries. Hito is a young wine introduced to complete the range of a modern and innovative winery. It is produced using the winery's youngest vineyards grafted with the Tinto Fino clone selected from the most emblematic vineyards of the zone.

Characteristics

Clean and bright, cherry red color with violet trim. The nose is intense and expressive, dominated by the varietal aromas of Tempranillo at its optimum maturity, accompanied by subtle notes of aging and toast. In the mouth it is a balanced wine, with good structure and persistence.

History

A wine rooted firmly in the most authentic winegrowing traditions of Ribera del Duero, but with an innovative vocation. Made using grapes from an ideal location where the exposure, climate and soil all combine to create a grape with an outstanding quality.

Characteristics

Intense cherry red cherry color, clean and bright. The nose is expressive, with a combination of Tempranillo's own notes, matured by the time in barrel but preserving a good freshness. The palate is elegant, full-bodied, with abundant and sweet tannins and balanced acidity. Its aftertaste is long and very persistent and pleasant.

MALABRIGO

History

Malabrigo is the plot which lends its name to our most emblematic wine. The plot is characterised by its sandy-clay soil and the tough climatological conditions, with a great fluctuation in temperature between day and night. All of these aspects mean that this plot features a terroir with extraordinary values which bestows great character on our wine.

Characteristics

Intense cherry red cherry color very covered. The nose shows the impact of the climate of the vintage with spicy nuances and aromas of black fruit perfectly integrated. In the mouth it is a wine of balance, with warmth but at the same time with weight and power. A great varietal red wine with an excellent evolution in the glass.

HORCAJO

History

The Horcajo plot, which this wine is named after, is located at an altitude of between 850 and 900 metres. Its placement is excellent for winegrowing, offering protection against frost, heterogeneous landscape and fertile soil. All of these conditions combine to create a plot that produces structured wines with rich aromatic profiles.

Characteristics

Cherry red color with ruby rim. In the nose is expressive, with a lot of personality and an extraordinary richness. Thanks to a long and respectful aging, it preserves the typical primary aromas of Tempranillo combined with the nuances of French oak. In the mouth it leaves a long, enveloping and elegant aftertaste. Definitely, it is a balanced wine with a
